Features list for

Occupational Therapy News 2007

Occupational Therapy News will be focusing on a wide range of professional issues throughout the coming year and we would like to hear from you – so why not contribute?

OTN aims to keep members fully informed about news and developments in the profession, as well as providing a tool through which knowledge, views and advice can be shared. Articles of particular interest include examples of innovative projects and best practice, but OT staff are encouraged to use the opportunity to share all useful learning experiences.

The following list includes some of the specific subject areas that OTN would like to focus on each month, but this is by no means exhaustive and we welcome contributions year round on any issues related to occupational therapy.

What knowledge, experience or advice do you have that others could find useful? This is your chance to contact colleagues in your field. Please use it.

Please send all contributions to the editor by email: editorial@cot.co.uk or tel: 020 7450 2339. If you would like guidelines for authors or to discuss anything in person, please contact the editor as above.
